Fund Manager Commentary

April was a good month for the corporate Investment Grade market, driven by narrowing spreads corporate bond spreads. The top performances were recorded by the components that tend to amplify market movements of the market (financial and industrial subordinated bonds, low ratings, long ends of the curves). In this environment, the sub-fund continued the process of reducing the underweighting of some positions compared to the benchmark, mostly by subscribing to new issues on the primary market. The position on the CDX Emerging Markets index was converted into a position on the Itraxx Crossover index, in light of instability in some countries included in the Emerging index. The position on the US government bond market, built using futures, has been converted into a position on the European market. The sub-fund's performance was positive, thanks to the favourable trend of the target markets, although compared to the benchmark penalising choices were the underweighting of duration and of the core components of the market (AA and A ratings with medium-long maturities), which in the course of the month scored performances in excess of the market average. The sub-fund will continue to balance underweighted positions in the core segment of the market, and will maintain a moderately bullish approach to the asset class.
